I hope everyone enjoys their extra long weekend! Our class is very excited!

In Science, we will have our final test on Rocks, Minerals and Erosion on Thursday Oct. 31st. We will review in class Monday and spend the majority of next week reviewing our work from the unit in class. The review will be in the duotang. Students are welcome to take home their duotangs. Please ensure they are returning them the next day.

In Math, we will start our new unit next week. We will focus on addition strategies. We will be working on basic facts and learning strategies to add multi-digit numbers.

Bible Project: Final project due Oct. 29th. You are welcome to bring in the projects anytime now. Please, let me know if you have any further questions.

In LA, we will be starting our next novel, Owls in the Family which will tie into our next science unit nicely as we learn about owls and their habitats. We are in the final stages of our Dragonling stories. Students are continuing to practice their typing skills by typing out their Dragonling story.

Blessings,
Dyana
